FALL 2026

fair to middlin'

IN THE BLUE RIDGE

The journey of DKOTA Grizzly has always been about the road less traveled — and the clothes that carry you there.

After nearly a year exploring the wilds of South America, our longtime adventurer Michael Ryan Clark made his way back home, ready for new ground. The DKOTA team set out to discover the beauty in our own backyard and headed for the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Just outside of Asheville, North Carolina, the town of Burnsville sits tucked among old-growth forests and weathered peaks. In this tight-knit Appalachian town, people still ask how you're doing — and most days, the answer's "fair to middlin'," a folksy way of saying "all's good."

Gear from the Fall '26 DKOTA Collection in tow, Michael linked up with his good friend Peter, a local who knows every bend of the trail. They spent their days hiking to the tranquil sounds of Roaring Fork Falls, rappelling off cliffs at Wiseman's Overlook, and fly-fishing for the teeming trout of the region.

Cooler mornings called for a quintessential DKOTA shirt jac over a favorite flannel. A weather-ready vest kept the chill off while capturing the abundance of turkey, bear, and deer throughout the mountains. And when the day warmed, a breathable knit carried them through the climbs of Dupont State Forest.

This fall, may your days be nothing short of fair to middlin' and your gear always ready for the road ahead.

BUILT FOR ADVENTURE. DESIGNED FOR LIFE.
